DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-27 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-14, drawn to an in vitro method of identifying an agent that modulates the association of a transcription regulator disclosed in SEQ ID NO 32 and a transcription factor, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
- II. Claims 1 and 15-22, drawn to an in vivo method of identifying an agent that modulates the association of a transcription regulator disclosed in SEQ ID NO 32 and a transcription factor, classified in class 800, subclass 3.
- III. Claims 23-27, drawn to a polynucleotide that comprises a transcription regulator disclosed in SEQ ID NO 32 and an expression cassette comprising the polynucleotide of SEQ ID NO 32, classified in class 536, subclass 24.1.

3. The methods of both the groups I and II encompass the limitations of claim 1. Should any of these groups be elected for prosecution, the invention of claim 1 would be examined to the extent it reads on the elected invention.

4. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of the groups I, II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the invention of group III is a transcription regulator polynucleotide which can be used in the methods of the groups I and II which are materially different methods. The method of group I is carried out in vitro whereas the method of group II is carried out in vivo in an animal. The steps of the method of group I can not be used in the practicing the method of the group II because the method of group II is carried out in vivo and would depend on the route of administration of not only the agent and the method group would not require any such steps. Furthermore, the method of group II requires a transgenic animal that comprises a construct comprising the regulator polynucleotide, whereas in case of the method of group I, the method requires a cell line or a cell lysate. Therefore, the inventions of the groups I, II, and III are patentably distinct.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, have acquired a separate status in the art shown by their different classification and their recognized divergent subject matter, and because each invention requires a separate, non-coextensive search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Applicants are advised to submit a clean version of each amended claim (without underlining and bracketing) according to § 1.121(c) and a copy of all the pending/under consideration claims. For instructions, Applicants are referred to <http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/dcom/olia/aipa/index.htm>.
